

Prof. Nebojsa Tasic, MD, PhD

Education:

- 2006 Ph.D. "Lipid status and trace elements in serum and carotid plaque different morphology", Faculty of Medicine, University of Belgrade
- 1997 Master's thesis "Changes in serum calcium during different regimes of salt intake in patients with essential hypertension", University of Belgrade School of Medicine
- Specialist exam in internal medicine laid 25.12.1997. Faculty of Medicine, University of Belgrade with honors
- University of Belgrade School of Medicine enrolled in October 1987, graduated from 29.10.1992 with an average score of 10.00 (ten) and passed the graduation exam with a score of 10

Cariere

- Professor of the Medical Faculty in Belgrade
- Assistant Director of Institute for Cardiovascular Diseases Dedinje for Scientific Research and Head of the Department of Cardiovascular Research Institute for Cardiovascular Diseases Dedinje
- President HISPA-e (Association of Centers for hypertension, prevention of attacks and stroke)
- President of International Society for Vascular Health (ISVH)

Membership

- Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Medical Chamber of Belgrade
- Committee for international cooperation of Serbian Medical Chamber

- Member of the Assembly of the Medical Chamber of Belgrade and Serbia
- Member of the Board of the City Institute for Emergency Medical Help Belgrade

Earlier professional and scientific experience:

- 2012-2015. Head of the Center for Hypertension Dedinje
- 1995-2000. Head of the Center for Organ Transplantation Institute for Cardiovascular Diseases Dedinje
- 1994-2002. Associate expert of the World Health Organization (WHO), Office in Belgrade
- from 2001 to 2003. Secretary of the Department of Transplantation Serbian Medical Society
- from 1997 to 2006. Moderator European register organ transplantation (ELTR) for Yugoslavia